"I participated in an intensive, one-week EMI program at UCI. It changed my view of education drastically. The teaching staff was deeply committed to the problem of each participant, which was moving. I not only learned techniques but a deeper way of thinking. I feel confident that even if the times change, I will apply this way of thinking to various situations."

ENGLISH-MEDIATED INSTRUCTION (EMI) PROGRAM

English-mediated instruction (EMI) is happening among top universities worldwide.

UCI's EMI Teacher Training Program gives university professors the opportunity to improve their core competency in English while fine-tuning their instructional techniques. We incorporate fully customized EMI pedagogical training workshops and UCI class observations to best meet the goals of each group. This comprehensive, hands-on approach has proven highly successful in preparing instructors to effectively teach courses from their academic field in English.

The EMI program can take place at UCI or on-site at your institution.
